

Breaking Scientific Networks

10:00am
12:00pm

Death in the Republic of Letters

Chair and comment: Mario Biagioli

Dániel Margócsy (Hunter College – CUNY)

“A Long History of Breakdowns: A Historiographic Review”

Matthew Sargent (Caltech)

“An Imagined Asia: Reordering European Spheres of Knowledge after the Black Death”

Paula Findlen (Stanford University)

“Galileo’s Network: Suppression, Omission, and Reconstruction of a Seventeenth-Century Correspondence”

1:30pm
3:30pm

Transnational Networks in Modernity

Chair and comment: Allison Fish

Bill Rankin (Yale University)

“Broken for Whom? The Successful Failure of the International Map of the World”

Elidor Mëhilli (Hunter College – CUNY)

“Ideological Conflict and Socialist Techno-Scientific Networks”

Andrew Lakoff (USC)

“Viral Exchange Networks and the Politics of Global Health”

4:00pm
6:00pm

Laboratories in the Global World

Chair and comment: H el ene Mialet

Sharon Traweek (UCLA)

“End of a Cold War Research Program: Long Live the Daughters”

Joanna Radin (Yale University)

“To Thaw or Not to Thaw: Frozen Blood and the Afterlife of the International Biological Program”

Lindsay Smith (University of New Mexico)

“Scientific Diplomacy, Non-Governmental Forensics, and the End of Human Rights Identifications”

6:00pm
6:45pm

Roundtable

Introductory remarks: D aniel Marg ocsy and Bill Rankin